OLYBEAN (9.30), winner of the Puppy Derby during a summer spell which saw her notch up a sequence of eight straight wins, can book her william Hill Oaks semi-final place by taking the fourth second round heat over 480m at Wimbledon tonight.

Ernie Gaskin's bitch may have been rubbed out close home when sent off an odds-on chance for her heat last Tuesday, but that was her first competitive outing for over five weeks and qualification would have been the primary objective. As well as achieving that, Olybean also proved without question that she retains her trademark early zip which makes her one of the hottest without question that she retains her trademark early zlp which makes her one of the hottest properties around, and has incredibly seen her only out of the first two home once in 16 starts. She'll be far more forward for that blow-out seen nights ago, is plotted up as the sole railer in the fourth eliminator and should comfortably strengthen her position at the head of the antepost market with a fluent front-running display.

Dairyland Sue (8.45), who pulled off one of the shocks of the year when landing the prestigious Select Stakes four months ago at odds of 25-1, is another that has been sidelined and kept fresh for this event, and she went a step better than Olybean in as much as she made a successful comeback in her opening heat.

Pat Rosney's bitch gets the nod for the second heat, but she will need to be every bit as good or even better than she was last Tuesday with One Yard – who prior to this event hadn't raced since winning the Northern Flat at Belle Vue in August 2003 – alongside, also having scope for significant improvement.

Nelles Toffee (10.00) got her Oaks campalign off to a flying start on what was her first look at Wimbledon and Paul Young's bitch can get first run on her heat six rivals, while quick heat winner Droopys Serena's (9.00) love of the track makes her a marginally call over Sammardan Daisy for heat three.

Betting (Hills): 9-2 Olybean, 5 One Yard, 7
Dairyland Sue, 8 Nellies Toffee, 9 Droopys
Serena, 10 Sammardan Daisy, 12 Shebas

NO HAS BEAN: Wimbledon tip Olybean

NO HAS BEAN: Wimbledon tip Olybean oversights and the opening heat looks at the mercy of Airtech Rapid (8.48). Paul Young's Arc and Sunderland Gold Cupwinner has gone through something of a quiet spell lately, but showed plenty of boot in an invitation contest at the Racing Post Festival last week and has run a satisfactory C&D trial. Indeed, both track and trip should suit Airtech Rapid and he would be one of the leading contenders for outright success. Manera Spark (9.33) is a much-improved dog since crashing out in the first round of this event last year and should make his intentions known from the two-box in heat four.

PUNTERS are going for a touch of Gold in Saturday's Hennessy Cognac

Gold Cup at Newbury.

At yesterday's five-day declaration stage 19 horses stood their ground but stage is noises stood their ground out punters were only really interested in one horse - Martin Pipe's Paddy Power Gold Cup winner Celestial Gold. Coral reported the six-year-old being their biggest ante post gamble of the jump season so far "From the moment we opened this morning punters have been piling their cash on Celestial Gold. We cut him to 4-1 after an hour but were forced to go 7-2 at noon as the money kept pouring in," said Simon Clare, Coral Spokesman.

"He will cost us a quarter of a million pound payout if he wins on Saturday," added Clare.

auged Clare.

Pipe could also be represented by Betfred Gold Cup victor Puntal and the TANY MicCOY plans to return to the saddle tomorrow - just over a week after dislocating his thumb at Folkestone. It was at first feared he would be out for much longer but now his intended return means he will get a few days match practice before Newbury's Hennessy meeting on Saturday, where he is due to ride First Gold in the big race itself, as well as Baracouda in the Ballymore Properties Long Distance Hurdle.

3 GINGER MCCAIN has revealed that he would retire at the end of the season should Amberleigh House give him a fifth Grand National success next spring.

We're going to get it fired, but — he's gone for the year unfortunately. It's very disappointing. I'm sick for the owners and sick for young JP (Magnier) who rides him. I'm also pretty sick for myself," said the trainer.

Bison boss: Our kid can BASINGSTOKE boss Mark Bernard has defended his decision to hand an Elite League debut to schoolboy Ryan Watt. Bernard came under fire for icing the 15-year-old Watt in the 3-3 draw with big-hitters Belfast Glants. Injury-ravaged Bison were without six first-choice starters and Bernard called up the youngster from the club's Under-19 squad for his senior bow. He became the club's youngest ever debutant and lined up against some of the most experienced stars in the top flight. Watt would have been too young to play against professionals in Canada but coach Bernard insisted: "I would never put a player in a situation where I felt he might be hurt.

"Ryan is a big strong boy and with our injury situation I knew that he could step in and play some shifts and be just fine.

"The win, which also counts for Elite League points, took the Blaze into second place in the table, just one point behind leaders and the point behind leading against a decision in garainst a decision."

Hurt

"I don't think you will find another coach that cares as much for his players as I do, sometimes too much which is a fault of my own.
"Ryan had his parents' full support and being a father myself, I would never do anything to get him hurt."

COVENTRY star Chris McNamara claimed a new club record when he scored a hat-trick in a second successive game.
McNamara, in his first season in the Elite League, scored three in Blaze's 7-2 National Cup win over Edinburgh, the first time any player has hit back-to-back trebles since Coventry reached the top flight.

The win, which also counts for Elite League points, took the Blaze into second place in the table, just one point behind leaders Cardiff Devils.

SWINDON are appealing against a decision to wipe out a 4-2 opening day win over Blackburn.

The English Ice Hockey Association awarded the visitors a 5-0 win because the Wildcats' British defenceman Shane Moore was not properly registered at the time.

Bears buzzing

BBL champions Brighton Bears came through a dou-ble overtime game to beat Newcastle Eagles 114-120.

Newcastle Eagles 114-120.
Tied at 94 after regulation, it was Ryan Huntley who was the game winner.
At the end of the first overtime period he made a buzzer-beating three-pointer to force the second period, in which his shooting from beyond the arc helped edge them away.
This was followed by success in a riveting game at

Level

It was only Towers' second defeat of the season and ensured that Brighton and Chester Jets pegged them back and drew level on points at the top of the league on Saturday night.

72-83 success over Birmingham Bullets. But Towers took com-mand again as they also travelled to Birmingham.

BASKETBALL

However, unlike Chester, they made light work of a lacklustre Bullets side.
The game finished 77-118 as the Bullets defence was left exposed on seemingly every Towers' attack.

Jerry Williams continues to show that he is arguably the best player in the league as he put up 37 points on a night where he almost couldn't miss.
The result sent Birmingham to the bottom of the league and Towers back to the top of it.

In other Championship games, Plymouth Raiders won at Leicester by 60-68, while Kingsley Hudson hit a three-pointer with seconds remaining to give Milton Keynes Lions a 77-80 win in Bracknell over Thames Valley Tigers.
This Sunday sees Milton Keynes, Brighton, Scottish Rocks and Chester battling it out in the BBL Cup semifinals at Ponds Forge in Sheffield.

THERE was another cracking weekend of matches that produced plenty of points for Star Fantasy Football managers. The top scorer this week was Damien Francis with 22 points. He helped Norwich to their first league win of the season with two goals. Hot on his heels was Chris Riggott who scored and kept a clean sheet to earn himself 21 points in Middlesbrough's win over Liverpool. The latest winners to take BOXING'S "best-kept secret" will be given a worldwide audience when Danny Williams headlines a marathon night of televised boxing next month.

Williams will challenge Vitali Klitschko for the WBC world heavyweight in Las Vegas on Saturday, December 11 and the bout will be the highlight of EIGHT hours of live boxing on Sky Box Office.
In addition to being broadcast here, the Williams fight will also be shown throughout America and in Europe, where German-based Ukrainjan Klitschko

There will also be huge interest in the television undercard, with Ricky Hatton's WBU lightwelterweight clash against Ray Oliveira headlining at London's ExCel Arena. Undefeated Hatton makes the 15th defence of his belt – the first time he has fought in the capital since beating Justin Rowsell at Wembley Conference Centre in 2001 – in a warm-up to a potential clash against IBF champ Kostya Tszyu.

UNION: Dallaglio hails Robbo's rout of Africa RUGBY

ONE FOR THE FUTURE: Harry Ellis shone in his England cameo

LAWRENCE DALLAGLIO last night hailed England's new-look side after their demolition of South Africa – then told the Springboks: You were lucky.

You were lucky.

The 32-year-old former England skipper relished the chance to watch his former team-mates in action.

And after a dismal 12 months since their World CupFinal victory, Dallaglio reckons Saturday's display has put England back on track.

The London Wasps star expected Andy Robinson's team to do the business over South Africa but admitted he was surprised by the emphatic manner of the 32-16 win.

And he said Australia could struggle to compete with England on Saturday if they also try to play their own brand of Super 12 rugby in British winter 12 rugby in British winter conditions.

Emphatic

Dallagilo said: "England played fantastically and to be honest, the scoreline flattered South Africa – they were lucky to score 16. "The result was not a surprise for those of us who know England rugby but we didn't expect it to be as emphatic as it was. "They didn't put England under any pressure and it shows you can't come uphere and just play Super 12 rugby in our conditions. You are likely to come unstuck. are likely to come unstuck.
"Everyone was writing

With Ireland beating the springboks the previous week and Wales coming within a point of the All Blacks, Dallaglio believes the platform is being laid for the most competitive Six Nations yet. With a Lions tour to New Tayland to come at the end

With a Lions tour to New Zealand to come at the end of the season, the Wasps skipper knows home nations rugby will be as good as it has ever been. He added: "The Six Nations is certainly going to be Interesting because Ireland will fancy their chances, having England and France at home. "And nobody expected Wales to run the All Blacks so close. Not to mention that France – tipped as future world champions – lost to Argentina.

Chance

"So the Six Nations could be one of the most competitive we've had so far."

As well as a resounding victory to enjoy, the Twickenham crowd also got a glimpse of the man fancied to become England's scrum-half for years to come.

Leicester's Harry Ellis came on for the final 15 minutes and former Lion Rob Howley backed the 22-year-old to claim a summer spot. Howley said: "If he takes his chance, he could be in the frame for the Lions."

YOUR racing-mad Daily Star has teamed up with British Eurosport to give one lucky reader the fantastic opportunity to be Colin McRae's co-driver as he races against the best drivers in the world.

One winner plus a friend will rub shoulders with legends and enjoy the high-speed action at the unique Race of Champions at the Stade de France in Paris.

Shown exclusively live on British Eurosport from 3.30pm on Saturday, December 4, you will get the chance to ride alongside McRae, who won the WRC title in 1995.

The Scot joins F1 stars Michael Schumacher, David Coulthard and Jean Alesi, plus rally champions Sebastien Loeb and Marcus Gronholm in the 17th Race of Champions.

The 80,000-seater stadium will be transformed into an awesome racetrack that pits drivers head-to-head in identical cars to ensure skill alone produces the winner, who will be crowned Champion of Champions. And you could be there! To enter, simply answer this question: In which year did Colin McRae win the World Rally Championship – a)1995, b)1997 or c)1999?

PAUL HUNTER joined the stunned ranks of world champions Ronnie O'Sullivan, Stephen Hendry and Mark Williams on the road to nowhere at the Travis Perkins UK Championship in York last night. World No.4 Hunter was beaten 9-8 by Ali Carter as seven of the top eight seeds failed to reach the quarter-final stage.

Only Paul Ebdon is left of the so-called elite but Carter certainly deserved his last-eight place after being pegged back by Hunter from 8-6 ahead. In a dramatic final frame, Carter was 56 points ahead before letting in Hunter, who looked set to clear up before missing a tricky brown.

And Carter made sure this time to book a last-eight clash with Joe Perry or Barry Pinches.

don't meet his pay demands.

And the Toon defender claims that a string of clubs on the continent are queueing up to sign him if he fails to clinch a new deal at St James's Park.

Bernard, who becomes a free agent next summer, is allowed to speak to prospective buyers in January and admits he may have no option but to quit Newcastle.

That would be a savage blow to boss Graeme Souness, who wants to hang on to the 25-year-old Frenchman even though he's planning a massive overhaul of the Toon defence.

Bernard's agent David Njok is holding talks with Newcastle chairman Freddy Shepherd this week and the former Lyon full-back is praying they can reach agreement.

TOON ace Alan Shearer (above) has revealed his hamstring injury is worse than first feared. The Newcastle skipper missed Saturday's win at Crystal Palace after picking up the problem in training. The 34-year-old was expected to be fit for the UEFA Cup clash with Sochaux, but he has now ruled himself out of Thursday's trip to France – and Sunday's visit of Everton. But he insists he'll be fit to face Chelsea on Saturday week. He said: "I won't be right for Thursday – but there's a more realistic chance of me being ready for the game at Chelsea."

■ by DAVE LYONS

STEVEN GERRARD is set to make his first start for two months start for two months tonight eager to land Liverpool a £5m jackpot in the millionaires' play-ground of Monte Carlo.

ground of Monte Carlo.

The England midfielder will return as Rafa Benitez's side chase the victory in the Stade Louis II which will seal their passage into the knockout stages of the Champions League with a game to spare. Gerrard continued his comeback from a broken metatarsal with a 35-minute run out in Saturday's 2-0 Premiership defeat to Middlesbrough following an appearance for the reserves eight days ago.

Boost

The 24-year-old is primed to slot back into midfield as Benitez seeks the win which will clinch Liverpool a windfall and boost the Kop transfer kitty as he looks to sign a striker in the transfer window.

"The Champions League is the ultimate," said Gerrard. "You need luck in any competition, but to win the Champions League you need all kinds of stuff. Experience, great players, a great manager and a team that works hard with everyone pulling together wanting the same thing.

"I think attitude is the most important thing. We're still in BENITEZ: Short of strikers it and confident that we can qualify. I don't think many teams underestimate us. "Watching the Champions League on TV was difficult because I really wanted to be part of it, but sulking wasn't going to help. "T're had a good rest and tried to take something positive out of it. Hopefully from now to May I'll be fine." Benitez is once again short on striking options with Milan Baros and Djibril Cisse both injured, but he believes Gerrard's return can help to offset those problems. "Steven is a great player but he means much more to us that that," said Benitez. "He is our captain and brings his great spirit and leadership to the team. It is important that he has played two games of about 45 minutes. He is fit and his presence is very important for the mentality of the team."

Monaco coach Didier Deschamps, who led France to World Cup success in 1998, admitted Gerrard was the player he feared most and claimed the midfield dynamo can become one of the best players in the world.

Style

"He is the leader of their team, a charismatic player," said former Chelsea star Deschamps, who is under pressure at Monaco following a dismal run of results.

"He has a huge influence on their team. Liverpool without Steven Gerrard just aren't the same. He encapsulates the whole team's energy with his style and sets the tempo.

"He can be one of the best players in Europe and the world. He's a typical modern player, a complete footballer."

United boss targets more silverware

■ by BILL THORNTON and HOWARD WHEATCROFT

SIR ALEX FERGUSON has demanded more silverware from his Manchester United squad.

Lucky

Fergie, though, couldn't hide his frustration at not winning the big one again. "The point I made then was accurate," he said. "In terms of the history of this club, we should be thinking in the same terms as the powers of Europe. There is no reason why not." Reflecting on his 999 maiches in charge, he claimed: "Of course I have changed. I'm not the same man I was 18 years ago. I have mellowed."

To illustrate his point, Fergie has insisted he won't be throwing teacups or pizza - If United fall to beat Lyon tonight. In fact, he says he's never thrown anything in anger after a defeat in his Old Trafford reign – and does not intend to start now

SIR ALEX FERGUSON has demanded more silverware from his Manchester United squad. And even after winning eight Premierships, five FA Cups and the Champions Cup in his 18 years at Old Trafford including the famous 1999 Treble – he is not happy. Success in Europe's premier competition is the true measure of greatness and Ferguson insisted: "We should expect to win it the same number of times as Bayern Munich (4), Ajax (4), and Milan (6). "I divorce Real Madrid from that simply because the number of wins they have had nime - is quite exceptional." Ferguson also omitted four-times winners Liverpool from his list – but presumably that was just an oversight! On the eve of tonight's visit of Group D leaders Lyon – with United needing victory to seal their place in the knockout stage – Ferguson is refusing to rest on his laurels. The winning of the Treble five years ago would have been a more than satisfactory sign-off for most men. Lucky me," he said. "I've never thrown a teacup at United, not a single one. I've handed out plenty of bollockings, but no throwing. "When I lost 18 years ago I took it badly, but I don't get my knickers in a twist any more and I handle defeat a lot better." I just try to make sure that it doesn't happen again by sorting it out on the training ground."

Stick

But Fergie does own up to an obsession that has earned him plenty of stick over the years – time at the end of matches. He admitted: "When we

nnie crunch best ■ by HOWARD WHEATCROFT

HARDMAN footballer-turned-actor Vinnie Jones amazingly played a key role in the game Sir Alex Ferguson regards the finest of his 999-match reign at Old Trafford. Far from the glitz and glamour of the Champions League, it is an FA Cup clash at Selhurst Park that he instantly recalls. Wimbledon were at the peak of their powers and hadn't been slow to boast of what they would do to United in the build-up to the fifth-round clash in February 1994.

Challenge

And Dons ace Jones set the tone in the first few minutes when he tried to cut Bric Cantona in half with a trademark crunching challenge. Fergie recalls: "Bric just got up and looked at him as if to say 'Oh it's you is it', then got on with the game. "And that set the tone for the afternoon.

We were magnificent.
"People always talk about the Champions

League game against Juventus when we came from 2-0 down to go through to the final. And yes, it was a fantastic comeback, and the impetus we got when we were 2-1 down was unbelievable.

"But we made mistakes in that game to put us in that position in the first place—but we didn't at Wimbledon."

United simply proved they wouldn't be intimidated physically, then got on with the business of producing the flowing football that has been the trademark of Fergie's long and successful spell.

Goals from Cantona, Paul Ince and a stunning passing move that culminated in a wonderful Denis Irwin counter sealed a 3-0 success and United were on their way to their first Double under the Scot.

DAVID BECKHAM was backed by his Real Madrid boss last night in the row over whether he is being picked to play football or sell shirts and pay-per-view TV packages.

The England skipper was the prime target of the Spanish media after Real's 3-0 humiliation at deadly rivals Barcelona on Saturday, and they sneered that he had only started to please his army of Far Eastern fans who had paid to watch the game.

But Real coach Mariano Remon said: "To say anyone's place in the team is non-negotiable is absurd.

"He or any other player would be on the bench if I thought it was deserved and not because of any internal or external pressure.

"We are not going to concentrate all our bad points on one player, that would be tremendously unfair.

Faith

"Beckham has come back after six weeks out injured. Everyone knows what he means to Real Madrid and how important he was to us in the early weeks of the season." Remon showed his faith by naming Beckham to start in tonight's Group B Champions League clash with Bayer Leverkusen. But Michael Owen is again on the bench for a game that will ensure Real's passage to the last 16 if they win.

CHELSEA star Tiago has urged his stunned teammates not to let Bolton's fightback damage their championship hopes.

The Portugal international admits all the players were left shell-shocked after Bolton came back from two goals down to get a point at Stamford Bridge. It was the first time Jose Mourinho's side had conceded two goals in a match this season but Tiago told Chelsea TV the players have to forget about it and take their frustration out on Charlton at The Valley on Saturday.

Floor

He said: "We had the chance to go four points clear at the top of the table so it is a big big disappointment for us to draw at home against Bolton.
"Everyone in the dressing-room was disappointed and had their heads on the floor because we were winning and lost two goals. "But we have to stay up and be strong. We are top of the league and for us it is a good motivation. We have to win the next match.
"I have never played against a team playing that kind of football. Every time they had a free-kick they put the ball high into the box.

PERUVIAN star Nolberto PERUVIAN star Nolberto Solano pulled off a piece of pure magic to send Spurs boss Martin Jol reaching for the panic button. Solano lit up an otherwise forgettable game with a goal of stunning quality to fire Villa into fifth place in the Premiership. His 57th-minute strike was pure execute. The little pridfielder

His 5/th-minute strike was pure sorcery. The little midfielder didn't look to have anywhere to go when Gavin McCann's flick-on from a Thomas Hitzlsperger corner fell to him with his back to goal six yards out.

Juggle

But he shimmled himself into position with a terrific juggle, looping the ball into the air with a super b double-touch before rifling the ball into the net.

the ball into the net.

Villa, seeking their third consecutive win for the first time in almost a year, were suddenly revi-talised and it Solano should have talised and it Solano should have put them even further ahead just a couple of minutes later, only to be denied by a fantastic block from Paul Robinson.

Suddenly Spurs were on the back foot as they tried desperately to halt a run which has seen them plunge down the table.

But they could not find a way through as they slumped to a sixth successive defeat.

Jol's men went in at the end of a sedate first half cursing a missed chance shortly before the break.

Michael Brown was the culprit, failing to put in any sort of telling shot from an angle just six yards out with keeper Thomas Sorensen at his mercy. Freddie Kanoute's incisive touch on had set Brown up and any shot of substance would surely have given Spurse the lead. But he failed to give it anywhere near enough and the grateful Sorensen managed to block low down at his near post, leaving the visiting fans behind that goal gasping in disbelief.

Comic

How expensive that might have proved right on the stroke of half-time when teenage Villa star Steven Davis was just inches away from a glorious debut.

The Northern Irish midfielder lunged to meet Solano's cross from eight yards out but he just couldn't quite get in the header required and the ball flashed across the face of the goal.

Prior to that there hadn't been a lot to get excited about, though a comic set-piece routine by the visitors did bring smiles all round. It might have been well rehearsed in training but someone forgot to tell referee Chris Foy to get out of the way of Michael Carrick's gently rolled free-kick. And when Spurs striker Jermain Defoe pulled his foot back to strike the ball goalwards he ended up clattering into the man in black.

VERDICT: Walking off is not the answer

IT will not be long before a Premiership match abandoned because manager has ordered his players off the pitch.

players off the pitch.

We just hope the game is called to a halt for the right reasons. The ongoing row over racism leaves football in a dangerous situation.

When does racial abuse reach a level to warrant calling a match off?

Certainly it was bad enough during England's match in Madrid last week, but there are those who think such a drastic decision would simply be bowing to the morons who dish out the abuse.

Also, is an isolated incident, like

Crime

The club's PLC chairman David Sullivan admitted yesterday: "It was not the crime of the century." No, it wasn't, but Sullivan's surprising and irresponsible remarks don't hide the fact that remarks don't filter the fact that racial abuse aimed at black sports-men, which clearly has been hid-ing just under the surface, is now back in our faces.

is a lot more hard work left before it's beaten. If ever.
Yorke would not tolerate such behaviour from another man walking down the street, so why should he inside a football stadi-um? The issue is, how does foot-ball beat it? Halting a game because one team retuses to play in front of a section of the crowd is the ultimate response.

It's what PFA chief executive fr's what fra chief executive Gordon Taylor supported when he flew home from Spain last week after witnessing the terrible abuse hurled at England players Ashley Cole, Shaun Wright-Phillips and Jermain Defoe. Now FIFA president Sepp Blatter has said he would have supported the England team had they simply walked off the Bernabeu and into history.

KICK IT: Fans get the message at Villa Park last night

We can only presume, therefore, that someone will take them up on their word.

It would take a sick person to call his players off because his side were losing, using racial taunts against one of his players as the reason.

reason. Yet there is no question, following Blatter's comments, that a game is going to be abandoned. Blatter didn't go far enough. What he should have done, as the most powerful administrator in the game, is lay down some guidelines. Should it be up to the coach, referee or a watching observer?

Taunts

Should the referee ask the player. like Wright-Phillips last week, if he wants to continue if the abuse is damaging his concentration? FIFA must insist that referees have the power to call a halt i they believe racial abuse is damag they believe racial abuse is damag-ing the game as a spectacle.

Also, what happens to the result and the points if it is a competitive game? Is the match replayed, does the score stand at the moment the players go off, and should a ground be emptied before a match restarts?
All these are issues for Platter

All these are issues for Blatter and he can't simply tell us he would support a team heading for the dressing-room. England coach Sven Goran Eriksson, so shocked at the level of abuse aimed at his black players, is known to be worried about the prospect of an international side walking off for the wrong reasons.

It was inevitable the weekend would bring more abuse because of the publicity Madrid had given it.

The idiot at Blackburn who allegedly abused Yorke, making monkey noises and imitating an ape, clearly thought it would be clever to be a copycat.

Blackburn, Birmlingham and the FA are holding an investigation into the Yorke incident and there will be others. The FA, who fiercely condemned the Spanish crowd, have to be seen to put their own house in order.

Target

Arsenal's visit to PSV Eindhoven tomorrow looks a prime target for the sick bigots who take some kind of enjoyment out of racist chanting. In Holland, referees have the authority to call a halt to protect players from abuse.

I got an e-mail yesterday from someone complaining that I had called Spanish fans scum. He said I was a racist to use such a word.

What chance have we got when there are people who defend what we have seen and heard over the last six days?

When I left the Bernabeu last week I thought a team walking off was the best solution, but there has to be a directive from the top. I would like to see a club or association found guilty of having racist fans ordered to play behind closed doors for three matches. Lack of revenue and sponsorship money would hopefully bring home the message. For at the moment, football carries on where anything goes. How bad does abuse have to become for a game to be called off?

Who makes the decision? And abuse nave to become for a game to be called off?

Who makes the decision? And what happens then? Football needs direction otherwise a week of sickening racist behaviour will lead to even more controversy.

BLACKBURN midfielder Steven Reid has been charged with improper conduct by the FA after a clash with Birmingham's Danish winger Jesper Gronkjaer.

NOBBY SOLANO celebrates after

NOBBY SOLANO celebrates after striking the killer blow to send Spurs crashing to their SIXTH Premiership defeat in a row, at Villa Park last night.

New Spurs boss Martin Jol suffered a 5-4 home defeat last time out at home to Arsenal and at least looked to have tightened his defence as Tottenham reached half-time at 0-0. But Solano struck with a sensational flick and sideways scissors kick in the 57th minute to send David O'Leary's men soaring to fifth in the table.

But for brilliant saves by Paul Robinson from Solano (twice) and Carlton Cole, Spurs would have been in for another bashing.

UNLOCK YOUR

If you're over 50 with a pension you haven't drawn on, you could unlock your pension benefits and take your cash and/or income early.

Given the importance of pension income, pension unlocking is likely only to be suitable for a very limited range of consumers and circumstances. Your pension income will be lower than if you had waited until your normal retirement date and you may be taking a reduced lump sum/pension benefit.

Call us to see if this could be suitable for you.

FREE INITIAL ADVICE

You may have been told that you can't touch your pension until age 65 but over the last 10 years we've helped thousands of people unlock it now.

YORKE: Abused

■ by DAVE ARMITAGE

DWIGHT YORKE'S future at Birmingham is in doubt after club chairman David Sullivan sparked outrage over his race-row outburst.

Multi-millionaire porn baron Sullivan played down the abuse the striker got at former club Blackburn and suggested Yorke should have run to the other end of the ground. Yorke was upset by fans who allegedly made monkey chants as he warmed up as a substitute just before coming on in Sunday's 3-3 draw at Ewood Park.

Probe

One fan was ejected and Lancashire police have launched a criminal inves-tigation into the incident. The FA are also conduct-

The FA are also conducting their own probe.
But, despite coming just days after the race-hate shame of Spanish fans in Madrid, Sullivan insisted Yorke's treatment wasn't "the crime of the century".
